I, Too, Was A Murderer, Says Ford

"I Was a Party to It, One of the Helpers," He Asserts, in Testimony in $1,000,000 Libel Suit

Benedict Arnold
'Writer,' He Says
Admits He Is "Ignorant Idealist," but Later He Reverses His Statement

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 16.—Henry Ford's testimony to-day in his $1,000,000 libel suit against "The Chicago Daily Tribune" presented the picture of one who cast a pebble into a body of water, then turned away without a look at the ripples.

Mr. Ford, it appeared from his story, felt that war was a wasteful horror imposed on the common people by self-seekers, munitions makers, bankers and others who might profit. Accordingly, he cast his pebble by employing a professional writer in the person of Theodore Delavigne to educate the public, and then very largely left the writer to ripple about by himself.

Delavigne Given Free Scope

As a witness Mr. Ford recognized scarcely anything that Mr. Delavigne published, and rarely knew what was to be published. While he worked for his favorite puzzle, the way of a drop of gasoline with a motor, Mr. Delavigne, using Mr. Ford's name, prosecuted the peace campaign with vigor and picturesque phrase, often putting into his employer's mouth historical allusions of which the great manufacturer admitted he never heard.

An instance of this lack of knowledge was revealed when Mr. Ford, in answer to a question, said that he thought Benedict Arnold was "a writer."

Questioned by Elliott G. Stevenson, senior counsel for the defendant, Mr. Ford repeatedly took refuge in the statement that "if it is the book (a compilation of Delavigne's) I'll say that it gave the public my view."

Statements Ford Backs

Following are some of the statements published by Delavigne and for which Mr. Ford assumed full responsibility:

"It (war) is the same old scarecrow talk by the same old lazy vultures who make human lives, seldom their own, the stake in their so-called battle of brains."

"I feel that this cry for the training of men to kill other men and for the placing of the army and navy as the backbone of the backs of the people is a false conception of patriotism and treason to the life of the people."

"The United States has spent more than a billion dollars on a navy and army that would come with an invasion that never occurred and never will occur, and yet the very war experts who are responsible for that burdensome army and navy admit that our army and navy never would have been able to meet, with any hope of success, those of other so-called powers."

The things that Henry Ford thought and that his peace secretary, Theodore Delavigne, wrote for him, were again the topic of examination when Mr. Ford resumed his witness stand.

Mr. Stevenson, "The Tribune's" chief counsel, quoted the phrase, "Same old scarecrow talk," which Mr. Ford had used, and asked, "Did you say that?"

Mr. Ford returned his familiar reply, "Delavigne wrote that." He added that the "scarecrow" was the professional agitators for preparedness.

"Your position was that they were advocating preparedness in order to protect by munitions."

"Preparedness, yes."

"Oh, you are still taking of 'over-preparedness.' I think you defined that yesterday as anything in addition to what we had in 1915 or 1916," reminded the lawyer. He then referred to the use of the word "murderer" as applied by Mr. Ford to professional soldiers and those who make money out of war.

"You were a murderer in 1917," suggested Mr. Stevenson.

"Oh, no," replied the witness quickly. "That was during the war."

"The course of one of the Delavigne articles," for which Mr. Ford takes full responsibility, the term "ballyhoo" was used. Mr. Ford, being questioned, hazarded the guess that it meant "ballyhoo."

"It means a shout advertising a show or exhibition," Mr. Stevenson elucidated.

"What do you understand by the word 'ballyhoo'?" asked Mr. Stevenson.

"Anything against the government," said Mr. Ford.

Calls Self "Ignorant Idealist"

Mr. Stevenson precipitated a torrent of objections by asking the meaning of the word "traitor," in the course of which Mr. Ford interposed:

"I'll admit I'm an 'ignorant idealist.'"

"Why, Mr. Ford," said Mr. Stevenson, "if you admit that I shall not have to ask you any more questions along that line."

"I'll admit it if it will close this talk. It is for the jury to decide anyway."

"But if you admit it there will be nothing for the jury to decide. The admission settles it."

Daylight Saving Foes Reopen Fight; Seek Repeal Despite Wilson's Veto

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The daylight saving fight revived again to-day. Urged on by the Senate, the House Agricultural Committee has now decided when the bill is reported out again to-morrow to substitute the Esch bill repealing daylight saving for the rider to which the President objected. Unless present indications fail, the House, with Senate approval guaranteed beforehand, will pass the measure and refer it to the President. If the President vetoes the bill the House believes it can muster a two-thirds majority to pass it over the veto.

World-Wide Ship Strike, Plan of Reds

I. W. W. and Russian Soviets Set Sept. 1 as Date When No Vessel Should Move; Working Among Negroes

I. W. W. leaders working with agents of the Russian Soviet government plotted a dock and marine strike which should sweep the seas cleaner than ever the U-boats did, according to information which has reached the Lusk committee and will be introduced in evidence at to-day's session.

The waterfronts and shipping of Spain, Holland, England, France and Latin-American countries have been infested for months, it is said, by the agents of the Bolsheviks and the I. W. W. who intended that September 1 should see every ocean shipless and every nation in the throes of a huge strike on its seaboard. For more than a year strikers, avowedly Bolshevik in sentiment and purpose, have tied up the harbor of Buenos Ayres, at times inflicting an actual embargo upon that Argentine port.

By propaganda along the waterfront, by hints dropped in fo'castles, by advances of money to individuals and by insinuating themselves and their doctrines into dockside and marine unions, these agents are said to have prepared the way for the world-wide strike scheduled for September 1.

For months agents of the Department of Justice have known of their activities among the marine unions of this city, and it is believed that a considerable part of those unions has been affected. Radicals assert that in many locals a majority of the members secretly carry the red I. W. W. card. Several prominent labor leaders will be among the witnesses called by the Lusk committee to-day.

Temporary Prohibition

S. John Block, counsel for the American Socialists' Society, which conducts the Rand School, yesterday obtained a temporary writ of prohibition from Judge McAdoo in the Supreme Court which restrains Senator Clayton R. Lusk and the members of his investigating committee from using any of the documents, books or papers seized in the raid on the Rand School pending the trial of the action brought by Attorney General Newton to annul the charter of the institution and to have a receiver appointed for it. A hearing to determine whether the restraining order shall be made permanent will take place this morning before Justice Ford in the Supreme Court. Deputy Attorney General Berger, Lusk's counsel, yesterday announced that he had taken the writ being made permanent.

This action was taken on advice of Samuel Untermyer, who is a volunteer attorney for the radicals. Mr. Untermyer is now recuperating at White Sulphur Springs, Va., preparatory to appearing for the Socialists at the trial on July 28. On this day Mr. Newton will seek to have the charter of the school annulled and obtain the appointment of a receiver to take care of its assets.

The writ directed against Chief Magistrate McAdoo, Acting Chief Magistrate Harris, Senator Lusk, Attorney General Newton, Deputy Attorney General Berger, Lusk's counsel, and the members of the committee, and Archibald Stevenson, associate counsel for the committee. The order directs that all property taken by the committee be returned to the Rand School, and that the committee be prohibited from using any of the documents, books or papers seized in the raid on the Rand School.

Reds Work in South

The Lusk committee operatives have what they say is conclusive evidence that the radical Socialists and Bolsheviks have been engaged for some time past in the dissemination of radical propaganda among the negroes. The committee has the name of a prominent white woman who has given large contributions to carry on this work. Her name will be made public at a hearing of the committee next week when this phase of the Red propaganda will be taken up.

The reports of the investigators of the committee say the propaganda among the negroes was launched on a large scale last February when "The Messenger" (a radical negro publication)

Japanese Envoy Calls German Treaty Bogus

KATSUJI DEBUCHI, Chargé d'Affaires of the Japanese Embassy, to-day issued the following statement:

"The Japanese government has not entered into any agreement with Germany. At no time since the Germans were driven from Shantung has my government entertained any thought of agreement with Germany on any point. The so-called treaty is of German manufacture, and is merely another step taken to encourage discord between Japan and the Allies."

Confiscation Section of Dry Enforcement Bill Would Wipe Out Stocks Here in Homes and Club Lockers

New York homes and clubs now harbor a $25,000,000 treasure that may become contraband and subject to confiscation by the government in the near future.

That is a conservative estimate placed upon the stores of alcoholic beverages now held in the cellars and lockers of the city's liquor consumers. More generous statisticians said that the value of hard liquor stock stored would reach nearly $100,000,000.

Should Congress pass the proposed amendment making it unlawful for any person to hold liquors stored before July 1, all of this immense stock will become contraband and subject to seizure by government officials. Just how this amendment to the enforcement law would be carried into execution nobody in New York seems to know. But it was admitted that a favorable vote on the measure would automatically relegate the contents of such cellars into a classification—along with smuggled jewels and bootleggers' wares.

Nearly All Have "Stocks"

The manager of one chain of stores dealing in wines and liquors said that the experience of every business house handling alcoholic beverages had shown that at least half of the homes of the city had been stocked with some beverages that would become contraband in the event of the passage of this measure. According to the census figures, based on the belief that there are 1,000,000 homes in greater New York, that would mean that there are 500,000 stocks of liquor subject to seizure under such a measure.

To estimate the quantity of liquor held in such stocks is far more difficult. A canvass of the stores showed that some purchasers admitted that they intended only to have "a couple of quarts in case of sickness." There were numerous wealthy men, however, who invested small fortunes in their private stocks of liquors. One New York millionaire is said to have laid in a $50,000 stock of wet goods. He has constructed a separate storehouse near his home for the purpose of keeping the liquor he expects to use in entertaining friends, according to report.

Average Supply Small

"I think the average stock is nearer ten than fifteen quarts," said a retail dealer. "If I think the value would be around $5 a quart at retail."

That would mean that the liquor in homes could be tabulated in this way:

Stocks held in New York homes	Value
Estimated quarts stored	10,000,000
Estimated value at retail	$50,000,000
Total number of quarts sold at retail	10,000,000
Value of stock at retail	$50,000,000
Value of liquor now in club lockers	$937,500

In addition to these stocks, the government still holds in bond, according to the external revenue experts, more than 50,000,000 quarts of whiskey, gin and other alcoholic beverages. At an estimated value of $5 a quart, this supplies a holding of $250,000,000.

Under existing laws the bonded liquors can be removed from bond for export purposes only.

Control of Wheat Given to Barnes

WASHINGTON, July 16.—By a proclamation issued to-night, President Wilson puts entire control of the wheat situation in the hands of Wheat Director Julius H. Barnes. The President made it possible for Director Barnes by a license system to regulate the export and import of wheat and wheat flour, the domestic and foreign distribution, the milling processes and the baking of bread and other products.

Mr. Barnes will also have authority to decide whether there shall be any change of policy that will operate for the reduction of bread prices, with the government paying the losses resulting from maintaining the guaranteed price to the producer.

The President by executive order forbade the export or import of wheat flour except under limitations prescribed by Director Barnes. He also increased the guaranteed price of the 1919 wheat crop to $2.30 a bushel at Galveston and New Orleans, the objects being to divert a part of the crop's flow from Atlantic terminals and relieve the strain on traffic.

House May Investigate All Acts of Burleson

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Plans for a searching investigation of the Post-office Department, and of the various activities of Postmaster General Burleson, are being framed by the House Republican leaders, it was learned to-day. The resolution for the investigation will be passed before the House enters upon its contemplated recess over August.

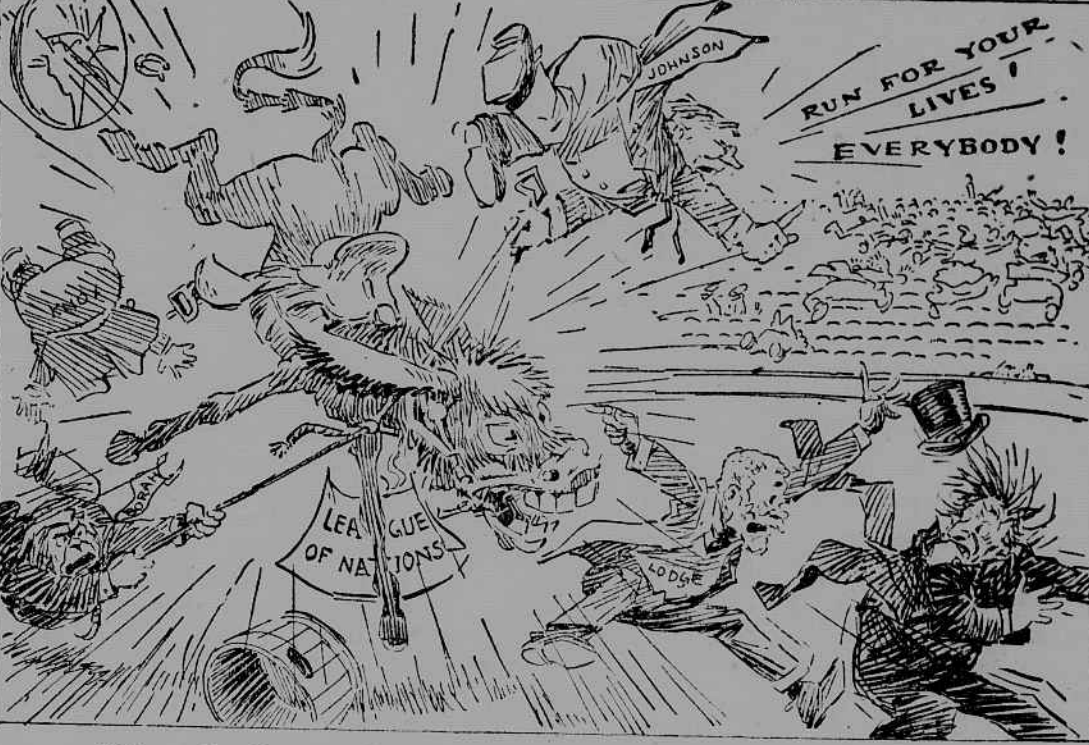

The investigation is to be made by the standing House Committee on Expenditures in the Postoffice Department, of which Representative Zihlman, of Maryland, is chairman.

British Press Assails Carson As Disturber

Direct Action Speech and Allusions to U.S. Deplored as Breeding Bad Blood; Prosecution Is Defeated

LONDON, July 16. (By The Associated Press).—Sir Edward Carson's speech on Saturday has brought the Ulster leader under the lash of the newspapers of all parties, primarily on account of his references to the United States, which are criticized as tactless and calculated to breed bad blood between the two nations, and, secondly, because he reiterated his old threat to call out the Ulster Volunteers to resist any attempt to place the Home Rule act in operation.

The Labor organs are not slow to point out how such incitement to "direct action" could be improved upon in the industrial field for securing political ends. The Liberal pro-Irish papers are equally quick to point out that in point of tactics there is no difference between "King de Valera" and "King Carson."

The matter came up in the House of Commons to-night, when the Speaker gave John Robert Clynes, Laborite, permission to move adjournment of the House for the purpose of challenging the government to set the law in motion against Sir Edward for a speech that Sir Edward's speeches incited to a breach of the law and endangering the safety of the realm.

"Arch-Apostle of Direct Action"

Mr. Clynes said there were many poor, illiterate men now in prison for saying less harmful things than Sir Edward had said. It was the government's duty to see that the law was equitably enforced. Mr. Clynes described Sir Edward as the "arch-apostle of direct action."

Lord Hugh Cecil and other Unionist members condemned Sir Edward's remarks as indefensible.

The Attorney General, Sir Gordon Hewart, declared that the allegation that Sir Edward's speeches incited to a breach of the law and violence had been broken down. There was nothing in the speech in question upon which it was possible to found legal proceedings. The passage referring to the calling out of volunteers was hypothetical and contingent on depriving Ulster people of their rights as British subjects, and this nobody proposed to do.

However much the speech might be regretted at a time like this, there was no law which could be set in motion.

Republicans to Repeal Soda-Ice Cream Tax

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Repeal of the soda water tax was decided on to-day by Republican leaders of the House. The decision, which was made by the Republican steering committee, will be referred to the Ways and Means Committee, which will draft a repeal measure.

Some leaders predicted that the tax, which levies an impost of 10 per cent on soft drinks and ice cream, would be repealed within a month.

Wilson Begins Daily Talks to Congressmen

Plans for Swing Around Circle Discussed With Chamberlain; Three Oregon Speeches Promised

WASHINGTON, July 16.—President Wilson was "at home" to-day to seventeen members of the Senate and House and other governmental and private visitors. Of the seventeen callers, six previously had made appointments for the day. The others were received by the President under the new White House policy of devoting two hours of certain days to the informal reception of members of Congress.

The new policy worked so satisfactorily that an official announcement was made by Mr. Tumulty that the President had determined to invite members of both parties in Congress to come to the White House and confer with the Chief Executive.

During the day Secretary Tumulty was given a list of fifteen members of the Senate to invite to the White House for conferences with the President. While the names of the Senators to be invited were not announced, it was intimated that some of the President's most outspoken opponents in the controversy over the peace treaty and the league would be asked to come and get the President's viewpoint.

List To Be Public To-day

It is not expected that the fifteen will call at the White House to-morrow, although Secretary Tumulty said that announcement will be made then of who has been invited.

That the President hopes by the new policy of "open house" to dissipate some of the opposition to the league of nations was indicated when it was said all the leaders of the Senate will be received
